

Award for the Best Paper on Education for Sustainability Journal of Management and Business Education (JMBE)

On the occasion of the JMBE special issue Education for Sustainability in Business Economics, the editors will, in the journal's recognition section, https://www.nitoku.com/@journal.mbe/awards_premios#best-paper-award/datapage, name the awardee for the best paper presented at the Conference on Teaching in Economics (Murcia, 2023) <https://grxworkshop.congressus.es/jdeconomia>. This content will appear in the editorial space reserved for teaching experiences related to gender and the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs).

The prize will consist of publication of the winning paper in the JMBE special issue <https://www.nitoku.com/@journal.mbe/issues>, also taking into account responses to the open call for the issue. The editorial team will evaluate all papers and assess their quality and the relevance of the topic. The winner will also receive a diploma certifying conferment of the award.

To be eligible for the award, candidates must meet the following requirements:

1. Submit a complete paper on sustainability via the EB platform before June 1, indicating JMBE in the submission.
2. Submit a paper whose objectives and development are related to the specific content the editorial team has established for the special issue.

If the editorial team deems it appropriate, the award may be declared void. In the selection process, minor changes to the selected work may be suggested in order to reach the final publishable version.

Journal of Management and Business Education is published by European Academy of Management and Business Economics and supported by Fundación Camilo Prado. ISSN: 2605-1044, Madrid (Spain)